On Monday, November 13, 2017 Mayor Wood presented Kristina M. Phillips with a gold watch for serving the City of Rensselaer for 30 years. Kris began her journey with the City of Rensselaer in February of 1987 as a part-time dispatcher for Chief Dennis Anslover. In November of 1987 Kris was hired as a full-time dispatcher, taking the dispatch position that was held by then dispatcher Jeff Phillips. Kris continued her career as a police dispatcher until November of 1998 when she moved to The City of Rensselaer Street, Sanitation, Water and Waste Water Departments. She was named The City of Rensselaer Webmaster in 2002 when the City of Rensselaer first started their web site. She remains in that position today.

Kristina lives in Rensselaer with her husband, Jeffrey S. Phillips. She has three sons, Mark, Matt and Benjamin Phillips and two grand-children, Ashlin and Ethan.
